Lisa Metcalfe joins Leadership Roundtable as Director of Services and Programs

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Leadership Roundtable is excited to announce that experienced nonprofit and corporate leader, Lisa Metcalfe, joined its team on Feb. 8 as Director of Services and Programs. Metcalfe will help lead the comprehensive leadership development and management training and services provided by Leadership Roundtable to Catholic organizations and dioceses across the United States.

“We are blessed that Lisa felt called to offer her extensive knowledge and skills in service of the Church,” said Michael Brough, a Partner at Leadership Roundtable who will oversee Metcalfe’s work. “Not only does Lisa have a deep commitment to the future of the Church, she has diverse expertise and experience in both nonprofit and corporate organizations, specifically in the area of professional services. Lisa fills a critical need at our organization as we grow and work with more dioceses and Catholic organizations.”

Metcalfe comes to Leadership Roundtable from the Archdiocese of Denver where she served as Major Gift Officer in the office of Mission Advancement. Before transitioning her career to work for the Church, Metcalfe was a senior leader at both corporate and nonprofit entities. Her decades of executive experience includes leadership roles at the National Wildlife Federation, Washington Gas in Washington, D.C., and professional services firms Tatum LLC and Newport LLC.

“It brings me joy to use the experience and expertise I’ve built in my career to further the mission of Leadership Roundtable,” Metcalfe said. “I am a lifelong Catholic and I am so grateful to be able to serve the Church in this capacity.”
