Margi English to join Leadership Roundtable as Partner for Institutional Advancement

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Leadership Roundtable will welcome accomplished fundraiser and nonprofit executive, Margi English, to its team of executive partners next month. English will help lead development and institutional advancement for the nonprofit organization.

“We are truly blessed to have a development professional of Margi’s caliber join our team at Leadership Roundtable,” said Kerry Alys Robinson. “Margi brings an incomparable combination of expertise developing strong organizational funding sources and established connections across the country that will be vital to our continued work.”

English officially joins Leadership Roundtable on February 1 as Partner for Institutional Advancement. In 2020, Leadership Roundtable adopted a leadership structure of executive partners to both model the co-responsibility needed in Catholic Church culture and to shepherd the organization into its next phase of growth. English joins Michael Brough, Robinson, and Kim Smolik at the helm of the organization.

“Margi’s desire to use her talents to help strengthen the Church as it confronts multiple global crises is a blessing to not just Leadership Roundtable but the entire body of Catholic faithful,” Brough said.

“Margi will play a critical role at our organization as we continue to grow in service to the Church,” Smolik added. “We are excited to welcome her to our team.”

English comes to Leadership Roundtable from Habitat for Humanity of Greater San Francisco where she served as Chief Development Officer. She has worked extensively in development, raising more than $50 million in her career for human services, housing and education programs. Her background includes serving as Executive Director of Development and Communications for Santa Clara University’s Jesuit School of Theology as well as Executive Director of St. Vincent de Paul Society of San Francisco.

“I am humbled by the opportunity to help shape the future of our Church and further Leadership Roundtable’s mission to bring best practices, accountability, and transparency to Church leadership,” English said.
